ACOM Health Announces 48-Month, Interest-Free Purchase Plan for RAPID Chiropractic Software; All Qualify

Because ACOM Health handles the financing directly, there is no major investment required up-front. Moreover, there is no credit check, so there is no impact on a doctor's credit rating with any of the third-party rating bureaus.

LONG BEACH, California, April 8, 2010 - ACOM Health has introduced a program under which it will directly finance purchases of its RAPID Chiropractic Software on a 48-month, interest-free payment agreement, it was announced today by Sam Mikhail, division vice president of sales.

"Doctors need this technology to streamline their clinical operations and office processes as well as to qualify for the government reimbursements under the 2009 ARRA Economic Stimulus Plan," Mikhail said. "At the same time, financing through banks and leasing companies that many doctors have used in the past is increasingly hard to get, even for doctors with great credit. In some cases it has dried up altogether. While some have in the past opted to pay cash, this program will allow such doctors to preserve their capital and spread their investment over 48 affordable easy payments.

Because ACOM Health handles the financing directly, there is no major investment required up-front. Moreover, there is no credit check, so there is no impact on a doctor's credit rating with any of the third-party rating bureaus.

"ACOM Health is the largest software provider that is fully dedicated to serving the chiropractic field, debt-free and fortunate to have excellent cash reserves with which to fund the new program," Mikhail said. "It is clear that the chiropractic profession needs this kind of support and we are pleased to be in a position to provide it. No doctor is excluded; everyone qualifies."

Announcement of the new financing program follows closely the recent announcement of the availability of RAPID chiropractic software on module-by-module basis.

"We encourage end-to-end technology solutions, but we also understand that some doctors are more cautious and prefer to start with the module(s) they need most and build out from there," Mikhail said. "So whether the doctor's requirements begin in the front office with scheduling, billing and collection or on the clinical side with automated SOAP notes and documentation, there should be no impediment to acquiring this valuable technology. We anticipate that this new program will appeal to the entire market, no matter which approach individual doctors select."
